O'Reilly Distribution Centers: In order to maintain our goal of having the right part at the right price at the right time, we have strategically placed distribution centers throughout the United States. Our strong distribution network positions us to deliver the right part, at the right price, and at the right time to all of our customers every day. Our 27 distribution centers, located across the United States, provide overnight service five nights a week so that parts not available in the store, and those needing to be replenished, are delivered for our customers the next business day. In our metro areas, we use hub stores and delivery specialists to maintain timely deliveries and meet our customers' needs. These hub stores provide same-day inventory availability to surrounding stores. Every day our warehouse team members use computer-generated picking tickets to pull specific parts according to each store's needs; then the parts are packed and loaded onto our trucks. Five days a week, our delivery team members drive overnight from the warehouses to distribute these shipments to all of our stores. O'Reilly Auto Parts – Forest Park, Georgia openings: Hiring Forklift Operators, Warehouse Workers, Delivery Drivers for ALL Shifts!
